

Call For Papers

TANET 2009 is an annual conference sponsored by the Ministry of Education (MOE), Taiwan, dedicated to addressing the challenges and perspectives of the Taiwan Academic Network. TANET 2009 conference serves as the premier forum for industrial, governmental, as well as academic IT professionals to discuss the establishment, management, and services of the Taiwan Academic Network. In this year, the theme of TANET 2009 is "Mobile-Life, Ubiquitous-Learning, and Intelligent-Taiwan." Based on the creativity and humanity, it is important to offer users remote access to all information about appliances in the workspace as well as at home, and help easily and conveniently use various services to enable working from home, and facilitate remote education, remote diagnosis, virtual shopping, and network gaming with no limitations on space and time. As a result, TANET 2009 intends to foster the dissemination of state-of-the-art research and technology in the areas of "Mobile-Life, Ubiquitous-Learning, and Intelligent-Taiwan." TANET 2009 will be held in October 28-30, 2009 at National Changhua University of Education (NCUE), Changhua, Taiwan. The organizing committees of TANET 2009 invite everyone to join the conference and share ideas, problems, solutions, or experiences.
